

Exercises, Week 4, Day 1

1. Show a portion of the multiplication table as an array, specifically that part of the table which is 6 to 9 multiplied by 12 to 16.
2. Taking this array, store it to a file and read it back into python.
3. Finally, transform the array such that no value is less than 100. There are a few ways of doing this.